QuickBooks® Conference Kit Provides Intuit Solution Providers/ProAdvisors Turnkey Solution to Educate Users

Users in Local and Regional Communities Gain Information To Begin Using Right Away

Helena, Mont., August 25, 2009 – The QuickBooks® Conference Kit, a turnkey conference package for CPA Firms, Intuit Solution Providers, QuickBooks® ProAdvisors and others interested in hosting their own QuickBooks® Users Conference, is now available for purchase. The kit was developed by Forepoint LLC and Anderson ZurMuehlen & Co., P.C. (AZ).

The Conference Kit has three options that build on each other: Level 1 – Materials and content to produce a one or two day conference; Level 2 – Extra coaching help and conference planning; and Level 3 – Experienced presenters for delivering keynote and/or other conference sessions. The Kit provides proven, high-quality materials, including planning checklists, marketing templates and advice, complete session content with speaker notes, event materials and forms, and a comprehensive user guide to help save significant time in holding a successful QuickBooks® conference.

"Intuit believes the QuickBooks Conference Kit fulfills a huge opportunity in local and regional communities because it provides a quick-to-market, cost-effective way for Intuit Solution Providers (ISPs), ProAdvisors and CPA Firms to educate and inform customers on how to get the most out of QuickBooks to grow their businesses," says BJ Schaknowski, director of the Intuit Solution Provider Channel. "The QuickBooks Conference Kit extends the Intuit brand, while strengthening relationships with ISPs, ProAdvisors and accountants."

Kevin Cumley, president of Forepoint, agrees. "Whether you are an experienced conference planner or new to hosting a conference, the QuickBooks® Conference Kit has what you need to help ensure a successful and profitable conference," he says. "The kit provides excellent value and high-quality materials to deliver a local user event that cannot be found elsewhere."

"The response from conference attendees has been incredible!" says Irene Bushnell, a shareholder with AZ.. "Evaluations and conversations with those who attended clearly communicate that the content and the experience delivers exceptional value, with information they can take back and begin using right away."
